Our guide will help you find the perfect place for lunch, dinner, or a cup of coffee. You'll also discover which restaurants cater to vegans and where to enjoy the best views in town.

CAFES

Maybe a cup of coffee or tea? We recommend ordering a crispy French croissant or a piece of Dzūki centipede. Or a handmade chocolate treat. Or a freshly baked, still warm and fragrant šakočiai! Create your ideal coffee break and enjoy life!

RESTAURANTS

Druskininkai takes pride in its cuisine — here you can enjoy everything from simple, affordable meals to exotic and luxurious dining experiences. Would you like to try Samarkand pancakes or Palestinian falafels? Perhaps octopus with risotto flavored with black cuttlefish ink? Or maybe just traditional cepelinai served with homemade kvass? We can assure you that during your stay in Druskininkai, you definitely won't go hungry!

BARS

If you think a bar is simply a place where alcoholic drinks are served, Druskininkai will surprise you. Here you'll find a healthy cocktail fitobar, a sauna bar, a water bar, a bar-nightclub, an ice bar, several bar-restaurants, and even a bar where you can taste the finest aged beef and “live” beer.

VEGETARIAN FOOD

Vegan or vegetarian dishes can be found in many restaurants in Druskininkai. Try the “mineral soup” prepared at the Violeta hotel restaurant; the corn polenta with tarragon served at the Aqua restaurant; the Palestinian falafel at the Toli Toli restaurant. The Cibas restaurant offers gluten-free and lactose-free dishes.

CULINARY HERITAGE

Lithuanians love traditional dishes made from potatoes, grains, and meat. The most popular dishes in our region are cold beet soup (šaltibarščiai), cepelinai (potato dumplings with meat filling), smoked sausage (skilandis), and the tree cake (šakotis). In regional cuisine restaurants, you will also find potato or buckwheat pancakes with sour cream, herring with mushroom sauce, peas with pork knuckle, and fried bread with garlic. And, of course, beer or kvass brewed in a local brewery.
